

Taraansay Blended Scotch - Bourbon Barrel

Tasting Notes vom 27.05.2020 von Whiskyfun.com:

How could a blended Scotch stem from one single cask, unless it had been blended along the path and further 'married' for a few years? This one's also called 'From Miles Away', I suppose that's a reference to Miles Davis? Having said, the label's beautiful. Colour: white wine. Nose: varnish, popcorn and candyfloss plus vanilla and a little coconut, there is well some grain in there. With water: light, with a little soot. Mouth (neat): a feeling of Cuban rum and smoked maize, not unpleasant, just unusual. With water: some minerals and a little apple juice, with a touch of smoke. Finish: medium, a little grassier. Comments: perhaps not a bitches' brew (ha-ha) but still a very fair drop that would defeat most commercial blends. I feel I should add that the price is extremely fair. SGP:442 - 80 points.

Benrinnes - Flora & Fauna

Tasting Notes vom 15.05.2019 von Whiskyfun.com:

Right, not totally randomly. Last time I tried this expression that was around the year 2000 (WF 83). A worthy aperitif yet again, I hope. Colour: gold. Nose: there, no truce this time, the whistle blows and we're in action. Tallow and marrow, parsley, bouillons, ham, onion soup, dry sherry, plus most certainly some umami as well as the 6th aroma, the aroma/taste of fat, which is called oleogustus, apparently (sounds a bit like dog Latin, no?) There's also a thing called kokumi, but we still need to check that. Mouth: so, kokumi and oleogustus (joking only a bit) and a huge fatness indeed, rarely to be experienced with any whiskies. In short, more tallow and marrow, ground coffee, salt, miso, and Maggi. Spectacular, but perhaps a little unlikely at times. Finish: long, very meaty and salty. Chorizo and beef juice. Really. Comments: totally odd – and admirable - that they would have kept this very unusual fat malt within the range. Perhaps more a sauce than malt whisky, after all. SGP:362 - 85 points

Oban - Bay Reserve - NAS - GoT - The Night's Watch

Tasting Notes vom 25.07.2019 von Whiskyfun.com:

Game Of Thrones, remember? This one's NAS, just like Little Bay. Colour: dark gold. Nose: it is more modern, with more oak, ginger, and nutmeg, but I wouldn't call it 'pencil-shaving-y'. Whiffs of tapioca, but also marmalade, tangerine skin, caraway and cloves, even juniper, then more ripe pears and apples, as well as plums and muscovado sugar. It's all well-composed, you can feel a good blender's been working on this. Mouth: a good surprise, this is relatively fat and creamy, yet salty, with some iodine, pepper, nutmeg and cinnamon, plus the usual marmalade. Bitter oranges. Tends to become a little drying, having said that, quite tannic, as some over-infused black tea. Not a bad feeling. Finish: medium, with more bread dough, more natural malt, these ashes and this smoke (cigarettes), as well as this seaweed. Comments: they could have used those fino casks here too, this one being just a tad sweeter. I don't think it deserved those jeers from the whisky 'community'. SGP:462 - 85 points.

Ben Nevis - Unchillfiltered Collection - Refill Butt

Nachdem der (in den letzten Jahren mächtig beeindruckende) originale Ben Nevis 10 Jahre mittlerweile leider nur noch sehr sporadisch verfügbar ist, kommen wieder einmal die Independent Bottlers zum Zuge. Farbe: Blasses Stroh. Aroma: Recht zurückhaltend, braucht Zeit, Steinfrüchte und Heidekraut, floral, getreidig, nach Tee, feine Rauchnote.

Geschmack: Honig, gesalzene Butter, würzig, reich, leicht verbrannt, Zitronen und eine würzige Eichigkeit. Im Nachklang lang, leicht würzig, Pfeffer, reichlich Butter.

Isle Of Jura - For Taiwan - Hogshead

Im letzten Jahr hatten wir ernsthaft überlegt, einen 1998er Isle Of Jura für unsere Acla Selection abzufüllen. Die Qualität war Klasse, aber der aufgerufene Preis und hohe Flaschenanzahl haben uns letztendlich zurückgehalten.... Somit ging das Fass an Kollegen im fernöstlichen Taiwan und wir konnten einige wenige Flaschen davon ergattern: Sehr ölig und butterig mit einem Unterton von Getreide und Kalk. Zarte Fruchtnoten von Orangen und Zitronen. Kein Rauch und endlich mal wieder ein rundum gelungener Isle Of Jura!

Irish Single Malt - Spring 2020 - Barrel

Tasting Notes vom 16.05.2020 von Angus, Whiskyfun.com:

Colour: pale straw. Nose: pure grass! Very much one of these light and gently austere profiles which is all about cut grass, chopped herbs, lemon peel, wet plaster, fabrics, sunflower seeds and the faintest wee buttery note. Super-fresh and very pleasantly summery - if a tad simplistic. With water: even leaner, drier and more austere now. Notes of fur, cream crackers, chalk, white flowers and talcum powder. Mouth: there's a surprising richness on arrival that wasn't at all betrayed by the nose. There's a more assertive texture of cooking oils, some buttery flavours, cookie dough, vanilla cream, cactus flesh and white chocolate. Very appealing. With water: again it becomes drier and leaner with water. More cereal driven, buttered toast, more sunflower seeds, cooking oils and lemon rind. Finish: a tad short but clean, crisp and dry with notes of sunflower oil and oatcakes. Comments: It's funny how these youngsters are ridden with this very specific grassiness, while the older ones reek of exotic fruits. I wonder at what point and by what alchemy the former evolves into the latter? SGP: 441 - 82 points.

Bunnahabhain - Artist Editon - 1st Fill Oloroso Butt

Tasting Notes vom 08.07.2020 von Whiskyfun.com:

Very lovely label, really, kudos. Colour: deep amber. Nose: bourbon and chocolate, pipe tobacco, butterscotch... But did you see the strength? Attempted murder on poor blogger, yet again! With water: chocolate and mocha, roasted chestnuts, touches of copper (old pennies), old orange cordial, a little wood smoke... Mouth (neat): feels excellent, but really, I need my palate in the coming week. With water: walnut wine, earth, a chalky touch, a bit of leather, and more coffee. Finish: long, on chalk an coffee. More vegetal in the aftertaste, artichokes perhaps... Comments: a very dry style, very good yet again, perhaps a tad monolithic? SGP:462 - 84 points.

Cognac Petit Champagne - Spring 2020

Tasting Notes vom 23.07.2020 von Whiskynotes.be:

Nose: elegant and balanced. We find sour plums and apricots, tobacco leaves and Ponzu sauce. Some candied oranges and pineapple bits. Honeyed notes in the background, as well as some cinnamon and all-spice. Hazelnuts and polished furniture as well. Mouth: a slightly darker profile now, not the rare tropical fruits from Vallein Tercinier for instance. Some pepper and minty / eucalyptus notes, light grassy touches. Behind this there are soaked raisins, hints of maple syrup, lime, blackcurrant leaf, herbal potions and some juicy tobacco. Although it's rather on the dry side, there's very little actual wood extract to be noticed. Finish: medium, on sour fruits, mint and a light resinous touch. Luscious, fresh cognac, for those who like to have more body and arguably higher complexity than the fruit bombs from VT. Another excellent malternative.
